The Institute of Demolition Engineers

NOTES FOR APPLICANTS

ABOUT THE INSTITUTE OF DEMOLITION ENGINEERS

The Institute Of Demolition Engineers is a Charitable Educational Trust and is established to promote and foster the science of demolition engineering, the use of more efficient techniques in the industry, to encourage safer methods of working and to provide a qualifying body in the industry. Membership is for individuals who are involved in some aspect of demolition engineering and who could be expected to be able to demonstrate a depth of knowledge and experience within the demolition industry. There is no provision for corporate membership and Companies may not claim accreditation to the Institute.

All members are expected to show commitment and support for the Institute to which they belong. Aspiring members are very welcome to attend IDE seminars and regional meetings. Attendance at such events will enhance your application.

All Entrants, Technicians, Associates, Full Members and Fellows are required to participate in the IDE scheme of continuing professional development (CPD). Fundamentally this is a process of setting yourself objectives for development and charting your progress towards achieving them. A brochure about this is available on our website and by request from the National Secretary.

Technician Grade Membership – ‘TechIDE’

Technician Grade Membership is open to all practicing Demolition Supervisors and Managers who have a minimum of 5 years time served and have achieved a level of competency to at least ‘Gold Card (Supervisor) status. Applicants for this grade of membership should, in the first instance, download from the IDE web site or apply through the National Secretary for the application form. Completed forms may be emailed or posted to our Chatham office, together with any supporting evidence. Payment must be made and successfully processed prior to full acceptance of the application at National Council. Candidates wishing to apply for the Technician Grade membership may seek a proposer from the list of IDE members to strengthen their application, or alternatively contact the National Secretary for assistance.

Although Technician Grade membership does not require the candidate to sit the entrance exam to gain acceptance, it would be desirable and advantageous for the candidate to do so at a future date. Membership grades, with the exception of affiliate and honorary, require continuing professional development (CPD) by members to maintain their membership status. Failure to do so will almost certainly result in their membership being revoked.

Technician Grade membership will entitle the member to use the designate ‘TechIDE’ after their name. Full voting rights at all Institute general membership meetings will apply. Membership renewal is subject to the Institutes rules on annual membership and the payment of the required subscription fee of £250.00 per annum.

- A. You will receive an acknowledgement that your Application has been received.
- B. Provided that your Application is complete in all respects (1 to 5 above), the National Secretary will circulate it to the members of the Membership Committee. This Committee only meets at approximately two-monthly intervals so there could be some delay before your Application is fully considered.
- C. The Membership Committee makes recommendations to the Council of Management. The Council of Management reserves the right to decide on whether or not an Application is successful. The Council does not give reasons for any of its decisions.
- D. The Membership Committee may, in some circumstances, request further information from you before reaching a decision.
- E. If successful the Council of Management also reserves the right to decide the grade of membership to be awarded.
- F. The National Secretary will advise you within 14 days of any decision which has been made.

PROGRESSION TO HIGHER GRADES OF MEMBERSHIP

All Members are expected to progress to higher grades of Membership and demonstrate support for the IDE.

Associate Grade Membership is only granted for two years, during which time the basic grade member is expected to sit and pass the Institute's examinations. These are held twice a year. The Institute also offers a very useful Preparation Day just before the examination and all first-time candidates have to attend it. Although the pass mark is high (70%) a large proportion of applicants pass first time. More information about the Institute's Examinations can be found on our website: www.ide.org.uk

SUBSCRIPTIONS

If accepted as a member then you will become immediately liable to pay the Annual Membership Subscription for the current year at the rate applicable for the grade awarded, although this may be waived at the discretion of the Council of Management if the enrolment date is shortly before the normal renewing date.

This subscription becomes renewable on May 1st annually. Annual Subscription Rates from 1 May 2018 are as follows:-

Enrolled/Technician Member	£250.00

Note to potential Applicants from Past-President Duncan Rudall, FIDE Tech IOSH

Download the application form and read it thoroughly before starting to complete it.

Please elaborate in depth, where asked to. The more information about you and your demolition experience the better. Regardless of your position within a company we need as much information about your involvement in the work that you do and what day to day part or role you take in each project.

This is not a corporate membership, it is for individual Demolition Engineering professionals, as such you are responsible for your application and the information provided within it. Please ensure the Full IDE Member Sponsor has agreed to sponsor you and has signed the application form prior to it being returned to the National Secretary.

Any discussions relating to your application will be between the National Secretary, The Membership Committee and you – the applicant, not third parties.

Best of Luck and we look forward to receiving your application.
